CLAIM OF JULIET M. BRANKER
CONTESTING FORFEITURE OF SEIZED PROPERTY

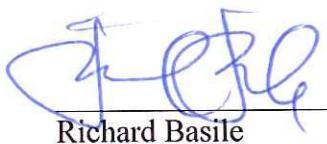

Comes now the claimant, Juliet M. Branker, by and through her attorney Richard Basile and makes claim contesting the forfeiture of seized property and in support of said claim states:

1. The identity of the specific real property being claimed is 5075 Jericho Road, Columbia, MD 21044 including all structures, appurtenances and improvements thereon seized on December 6, 2013 in Columbia, Maryland from Paul E. Sessomes and Juliet M. Branker.
2. That Juliet M. Branker is the owner of said real property along with Paul E. Sessomes.
3. That said real property was seized upon allegation or belief that it was associated with or that its purchase or payment resulted from illegal drug transactions and was purchased in an attempt to launder or disguise proceeds of drug transactions.
4. That said real property was in no way connected with or involved with any type of unlawful transaction. Said real property was not the result of an unlawful transaction nor was it used or intended to be used in any unlawful transaction.

5. The real property seized from Juliet M. Branker in this case was real property which she helped acquire through the expenditure of her legally acquired monies and was not purchased with laundered money or money which was acquired or used illegally or with money used for the purpose of laundering said money.
6. That the foregoing facts establish that, as a result of the lack of any connection between the seized real property and any illegal transaction, there is no basis to forfeit said real property and the petitioner Juliet M. Branker is entitled to its return.

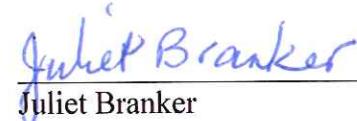

Wherefore, Juliet M. Branker contests the forfeiture of the seized real property referenced herein and requests the release of said real property.

I solemnly declare, swear and affirm under penalty of perjury that the facts set forth in this Claim of Juliet M. Branker Contesting Forfeiture of Seized Property are true and correct and are based upon my personal knowledge. Executed on January 6, 2014.
